Morse code idea's

Items to bring:

- Torches / radios
- Paper to create coded messages on and to capture incoming messages
- Code laminates with each team so they can create their message and also understand message sent to them

What to do

- Make the message simple, one word can be enough to start with. Get them to create their word on paper ahead of starting to send anything.
- Best to agree in the group who is going to watch and say code being sent, who is going to write it down and who is going to decipher it.
- Get groups (e.g. sixes) to go some distance from each other but still in clear sight if using torches (e.g. either side of apple). Get one group to send their message to the other once understood reverse process.
- You can send a message to groups getting them to go to different places in Glenny works best with radios. If doing this have the message(s) written down before you go to Glenny.
